

I AM FELLUSCH

A passionate photographer based in Duisburg, Germany.
Since my early childhood I am addicted to bicycles, followed by my second passion: Watching emotions and movements in sports or daily life. In my photos, everything comes together.

Best Regards,

Fellusch

RANDOM

A close-up, low-angle shot of a runner's legs as they splash through a deep, muddy puddle. The runner is wearing bright blue athletic shoes with orange laces. The mud is dark and thick, splashing upwards around the shoes. The background is a dark, muddy ground with some dry leaves scattered around. The text "EUROPEAN CROSS COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIPS" is overlaid in white, sans-serif capital letters on the right side of the image.
